The Denver West Architectural Control Committee hereby accepts these drawings as consistent with the Design Guidelines for the Denver West Development. This acceptance relates only to the appearance of the building(s), grounds and exterior improvements (as initialed below), and does not constitute review, acceptance, or approval of the quality or functionality of design, materials, construction, grading, drainage, structural, electrical, mechanical, building systems, or accessibility/ADA issues. Those are the responsibilities of the applicant, their architects, engineers, contractors, etc.

Site plans for new buildings are approved for 24 months. All other requests are approved for 6 months. If the allotted time elapses without completion of the work, applicants will have to resubmit for DWACC approval.
